

Special Accident Policy Offered To Student Body

Loyola College has arranged this year to offer to the student body a plan of insurance that will reimburse them for medical expenses resulting from any accident, it was announced by the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S.J., Dean of Studies.

By an agreement with Mr. J. Carroll Freley, a representative of the Maryland Casualty Company and an alumnus of Loyola, the company will provide up to $500 to cover the treatment of each accident suffered by subscribing students.

Policy Rates Given

Students may avail themselves of this service for nine months beginning with October 1 for a premium payment of $10, or they may insure themselves for a twelve-month period for $12.

The policy covers all accidents, whether to athletes, on the school premises, traveling, or at home.

Several such plans offered in the past have only insured students against injuries incurred on the campus.

Blanks Available In Office

Father Sullivan added, "... It was felt that there was a need for such a policy ... since there would undoubtedly be some few accidents during the school year. This opinion is based upon the record of the past three or four years."

He also stated that the plan offered at Loyola is much cheaper than many similar plans offered on the outside, explaining that this has been made possible by the expected large student subscription.

Policy blanks have been sent to the parents or guardians of all Loyola students. Additional blanks are available in the Dean's office.

Father Talbot Is Guest At Spanish Embassy

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President of Loyola College, was a guest of the Spanish Embassy, in Washington, D. C., on Columbus Day, October 12.

There Father Talbot participated in a celebration of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus on October 12, 1492.

Last February Father Talbot was presented with the Order of Isabel the Catholic by the Spanish Government.

LOYOLA'S STUDENT COUNCIL, shown here in its meeting of October 13, discusses a proposed change in the council's constitution, which was subsequently defeated.

Co-operative Plan Approved

A Student-Faculty Co-operative Plan for bettering instruction at Loyola was given the approbation of the Student Council at its regular meeting on Thursday, October 13.

Originally introduced by Richard Codigan, N. S. A. representative on the campus, the plan will now go to the School authorities for their approval. It will then be considered by a special student-faculty committee to determine the best practical means for putting it into operation.

The Co-operative Plan provides for the evaluation of courses and instructors by class members by means of secret ballots. The marked ballots are seen only by the evaluated instructor.

Stemming from research done by the Department of Sociology, Rutgers University, the program has been tried in colleges and universities in various parts of the country with reported success.

The N. S. A. has made pertinent information available to all interested college groups.

Sophs To Vote Today For Class Officers

Members of the Class of June '52 will vote today to choose officers for their class. It was announced by Emidio A. Bianco, president of the Student Council, which will supervise the balloting in the cafeteria. The sophomores nominated candidates for the election on Tuesday, October 18.

Next week the Classes of June '51 and July '50 will elect their officers on Wednesday, October 27, and Thursday, October 28, respectively. Junior nominations were held on Thursday, October 20, while those for the seniors took place on Wednesday, October 19.

June '51 Class Begins Plans For Prom

Plans for the Junior Promenade of 1950 were drawn up by the June '51 Class at a special meeting held in Room 201 on Tuesday, October 11, at 3:15 p.m.

It was decided that the Prom should take place on Saturday, April 22. Although several local country clubs were considered as possible locations for the dance, none was decided upon at the meeting.

Committee Selected

A Prom Committee consisting of Thomas Coady, Eugene Courvoisier, Robert Davis, George Fitzpatrick, Lawrence Godey, Edward Howser, Francis Hubbard, William Kneavel, Andrew McCormick, David Metzger, Jerome Minth, Thomas Oaster, Joseph Paszko and Xavier Trainor was also selected by the juniors. From these will be elected a chairman and a business manager.

Granted all authority to choose the club for the ball, the orchestra, and to supervise the incidental arrangements, the Committee will sign all contracts for the class and manage the financing of the Prom.

Contributions Requested

Each of the 92 members of the June '51 Class was requested to contribute one dollar to defray the initial deposit on the contracts.

Twenty-five dollars were contributed immediately. The remainder is now being collected.

Concerning preparations for the Prom, Edwin Leimkohler, president of the Junior Class said, "The cooperation of the class has been great. I just mentioned that we needed deposit money and was handed five individual dollars—and this was the day before the meeting!"

Paper Awarded 'All-American'

With a score of 1026 out of a possible 1056 points, THE GREYHOUND was recently awarded an "All-American" rating for the second semester of the 1948-49 school year by the National Scholastic Press Association.

The Loyola student publication received 266 out of a possible 250 points for news value and sources (extra points given); 270 out of 280 for news writing and editing; 250 out of 266 for headlines, typography and makeup; and 265 out of 250 for department pages and special features.

James E. Bowen, Eugene P. Corrigan, James H. Ditz and David B. McGuire were page editors.

Clarke Assumes Office

Raymond Parr was sports editor. He was assisted by Gerald McCormick and Robert Bourdon.

Clarke succeeded Gallagher as editor-in-chief at the beginning of the 1949 Spring Term.

Evening School Sponsors Atomic Energy Lectures

"Atomic Energy and the Social Sciences" will be the theme of a series of three lectures to be conducted under the auspices of the Loyola College Evening School in the Evergreen Library on consecutive Sundays, November 6, 13 and 20, at 4:00 p.m.

The speakers, in the order of their lectures, will be Dr. Fletcher G. Watson, Professor of Education, Harvard University; the Hon. Millard E. Tydings, United States Senator from Maryland; and Dr. Leonard N. Wolfe, chairman of the Biology Department, University of Scranton.

Lecture Schedule Given

Dr. Watson will deliver the introductory lecture, in which he will touch upon the educational problems posed by atomic energy.

On the following Sunday, Senator Tydings, chairman of the Senate Committee on Armed Services and a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, will present the military and security aspects of the subject.

The third and final talk, by Dr. Wolfe, will concern primarily the medical and biological considerations of atomic energy, especially from the viewpoint of atomic weapons.

Psi Beta Kappa Member

Dr. Watson was graduated from Pomona College, Harvard, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1933. Subsequently, he got his M.A. and Ph.D. from the same school.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honor fraternity.

Has Travelled Widely

Senator Tydings, a veteran of 23 years in the Senate, has travelled widely, including two trips around the world.

In addition to having covered the principal Pacific islands and several in the Caribbean, he has visited most of the countries in Europe.

Held Graduate Fellowship

Dr. Wolfe, who got his Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh, held a graduate fellowship, doing research in endocrinology before assuming his present position at Scranton.

He is a member of Phi Sigma and of Sigma XI, both national honorary science fraternities.

Campus Road Now One-Way Going East

A plan for making the lane leading into the Loyola campus from Charles Street a one-way road, which was suggested by the Student Council almost a year ago after a special committee investigated campus traffic problems, has gone into effect.

One-way signs have been placed at the Charles Street entrance and along the road.

In addition to this, special individual parking places for faculty members have been assigned to the road leading in from Cold Spring Lane and also on the lane from Charles Street.

The Rev. Robert P. Arthur, S.J., Dean of Discipline, announces that "anyone taking a teacher's place or caught going the wrong way on the lane from Charles Street will be severely fined."

In the past the usual fine has been $1.00 for campus traffic violations.

Hon. Millard E. Tydings

Athletes Will Sponsor Dance

Using as its theme all athletic activity at Loyola—varsity, B-squad, freshman and intramural—the Athletes' Fete, annual dance of the Block L Club, will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium on Saturday, November 6, from 9:00 till 1:00.

The dance will be strictly drag and feature novelty favors. The price of admission will be $2.40 per couple.

Committees Listed

At a meeting in the Gymnasium on Wednesday evening, October 12, the Block L members formed special committees to handle all preparations for the dance.

John Mohler, Thomas Oaster, Howard Shock and Michael Zedalski constitute the Arrangements Committee, while Frederick Carozzi, Carl Eckels and John Whalen make up the Band and Tickets Committee.

The Refreshment Committee comprises Robert Anderson and Francis Linardi. Publicity will be handled by Milton Harris, Joseph Kelly and Charles Sybert, and the Decorations Committee is headed by Thomas Maskell, Jr.

Meagher Supervises

Francis Meagher, president of the Athletic Association, supervises plans for the dance.

The Block L Club is an organization for Loyola athletes who have won their "letters."

Charles Davis Elected Glee Club President

Charles Davis became president of the Loyola College Glee Club at elections held in Room 1-D on Thursday, October 13, at 3:30 p.m. Others elected were George Bauernschuh, vice-president; Lee Eldridge, secretary; and J. Jacques Gunnlog, treasurer.

All sections of the club were represented in its choice of officers: Davis and Bauernschuh are tenors, while Ehrliche and Gunnlog are bassos.

Nationalization Of Industry Is Debating Topic

Pros and cons of the nationalization of industry will occupy the members of the Robert Bellarmine Debating society this year. The topic for discussion in the forthcoming season is "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize the basic non-agricultural industries."

The first meeting of the year was held on Tuesday, October 4, for organizational purposes. President Edward Clarke put forth the plan to schedule most of the debates as near home as possible in order to hold more debates and to be able to take more, shorter trips.

In order to assist future debates, a meeting was called for the following Tuesday, October 11. Vice-President Bert Morales assigned the matches to members. The subject of debates before local business and religious groups was brought up by Mr. James A. Perrott, the moderator of the society, who suggested that each member turn in a topic for discussion in order to provide a variety of subjects and to stimulate more active interest in debating.

Mr. Perrott welcomed the new members and expressed the desire to have the most successful season possible through the co-operation and interest of the men in the society.

Morales has announced that meetings of the society will be held every Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. in room 1F. He assigned intra-society debates for the first three meetings to twelve members. A period has been allotted for criticism of arguments after each competition.

Math Talks Planned As Club Begins Year

Mathematics Club tentative schedules were drawn up at the meeting on October 10. At the first regular meeting, John Coyne will speak on "Number Bases Other Than Ten." He will explain the numerical systems based on two, twelve or some number other than ten. He will also tell how a system based on the integer two has been employed in modern "mathematical brains."

The second meeting will be a joint session of the Math Club and Physics Club, at which Mr. Dawkins will address the two societies on "The Quantum Constant h."

The moderator is Mr. Walter S. Dawkins, acting head of the Mathematics Department. President is John Joseph Coyne, who will serve until this spring.

Colorful Gathering Sees Chapel Ground-Breaking

Outlining the true reason behind the building of the Memorial Chapel, the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S.J., told a distinguished group of onlookers at the ground-breaking ceremonies of October 9 that the Chapel "will stand as a pledge," perhaps for centuries.

Prior to the actual turning of earth by the Most Reverend Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, Fr. Bunn commemorated the inauguration of construction on the project which had flourished under his administration as President of the College.

Fr. Bunn said that the men to whom the chapel is to be dedicated fought "to preserve the dignity of human nature." He continued that it will be "dedicated to Our Lady of Evergreen, Queen of Peace, to remind all our citizens why we fought and struggled in that monstrous war."

In introducing the former president and present director of regional Jesuit education, the Very Reverend Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President, announced that the Chapel will be completed within a year.

Assisting Archbishop Keough at the ceremonies were the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, the Very Rev. Msgr. John S. Spence, and the Rev. Dr. Leo J. McCormick.

NDM, Loyola Leaders Confer; Curtain Raised For Tea Dance

Two envoys recently returned from Notre Dame of Maryland under a flag of amity. They had conferred with student leaders there in a renewed attempt to establish more friendly relations.

Edward McNeal and Fred Leimkuhler quietly told their story to a GMU reporter who met them just past the border of the Garrett estate. The Student Council had called for volunteers to slip under the velvet curtain. McNeal and Leimkuhler heard the call and responded. They gave the year's first report on conditions in the regions under feminine control.

The first result of the visit was a tea dance arranged for the evening of Friday, October 14, the year's first UNESCO-like experiment, whereby Loyolans could meet and converse with Notre Dahlians.

Those attending reported an extraordinary attitude of friendliness evidenced, but claimed to have heard rumors of reports to the effect that a counterexpedition had been observed setting out from a local state capital.

One-Step Vote, One-Way Road Considered By S.C.

Changes in the activity voting procedure and that announcement of one-way traffic on the campus drive were some of the points covered at the Student Council meetings of October 6 and 13. A motion to amend the constitution's voting regulations to allow nomination by petition rather than the present seven-man draft was introduced by F. F. Leimkuhler at the earlier meeting, and tabled for a week. It was defeated at the next session.

The Very Reverend Francis X. Talbot, S.J., answered a question as to the traffic regulations on the road from the Faculty House to Charles Street by announcing that a sign has been erected limiting travel on that road to eastbound only. The action resulted from a council resolution of a year ago.

NSA delegate Richard Cadigan introduced Kenneth Grimm, of the campus NSA, who spoke to the Council on the merits of the proposed Faculty-Student evaluation system. Cadigan then moved for its adoption, but that motion was also tabled until the next week's meeting.

Attend Dances

A mixer dance for out-of-town freshmen is being planned with the Kymry Club of Notre Dame. The club members also attended the dance of October 14 and are planning to call during the NDM open house this Sunday, according to Andrew O'Donnell, president.

Other officers, elected last January, are Michael Zedalis, treasurer, and Eugene Corrigan, secretary. The moderator is Mr. Vincent Colomore, of the Modern Language Department.

Wide Range Represented

Members' addresses range from Manila, P. I., to Burlington, Wis., and from Miami Beach, Fla., to Lexington, Mass. Cities represented along the way include Rome, Italy; Koszeg, Hungary; Dortmund, Germany; London, England; New York City; Booneville, Ind.; and Chicago, Ill.

Reading from south to north, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Charleston and Orangeburg, S. C.; King George and Front Royal, Va.; Washington, D. C.; Altoona and Freeland (among others), Pa.; Newburgh and Allot Springs, N. Y.; and Worcester, Mass., are included.

Federal Exams Listed By Placement Bureau

Election Of Officers

The Annual Meeting of the Association was held at Evergreen on Friday, October 14, at 8:15 p.m. in The Oak Room of the Library Building. Main item on the agenda was the election of officers for the year 1949-1950. By the vote of the membership the following are to hold office in the Association for that period: president, Llughard T. Whitford, '27; first vice-president, Jules O. Knight, '36; second vice-president, Edwina T. Steffy, '42. Louis C. Roche, retiring president, will serve out the unexpired term of Jules O. Knight as director. Three directors were elected for the constitutional term of three years. They were John E. Sweitzer, '27; Daniel Balbon, '43; and James J. Lucy, Jr., '49. Following the meeting refreshments were served in the Oak Room.

News Items

Mr. Edward Hanlon, '09, recently represented Loyola College at the Inauguration Ceremonies held at Queen's College on October 11, 1949.

The Association marks with sorrow the passing of one of its senior members, Mr. C. Stuart Lee, '92, died on October 1 of this year. Mr. Lee, an executive of Pusey Jones Shipbuilding Corporation in Wilmington, Del., was the recipient of the 60 Year Gold Medal at Loyola's graduation exercises in 1942.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James P. Bailey, '48, on the birth of their daughter, Kathleen Mary on September 5; to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Volatile on the arrival of their son, John on June 12; to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent D. Profili, proud parents of Susan Lynn, born June 3.

Wedding Bells have rung recently for Richard A. Hartman. Dick was married to the former Claire Marie Cullinan, at St. Raymond's Church in the Bronx, New York, on October 1. Another alumnus, William J. Wheatley, was married at St. Ignatius Church on September 3 to Miss Elizabeth T. Castle.

Social Science Plans Lectures

Mr. Hausford L. Furless, Jr., instructor in classical literature, has accepted the position of moderator of the Social Science Club. This post presented a problem to the organization after the resignation of Mr. Myer Tobey, S. J., who left Loyola at the end of last semester to attend Fordham University.

Last year, under the leadership of Mr. Tobey, the group held discussions with Morgan College, Goucher and Notre Dame of Maryland concerning the problems then current in the field of sociology. Lectures were given by noted authorities on such topics as unemployment, alcoholism and the social evils encountered in the use of barbiturates.

During a trip to Perry Point Hospital the club observed the modern methods employed in the treatment of mental cases and the advances made by science in the prevention of mental sickness.

According to President Joseph E. Freierleick, many new members have joined the club. Plans for the future include lectures and discussions pertaining to many important social problems existing in the world today.

Meetings of the Social Science Club are held every Monday.

Film Hopes Sad Reports Hedda

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 21—It has been formally announced today by Hollywood columnist Hedda Lettuce that there will be no relief from the flood of class-B pictures now flooding the market in Baltimore, Dundalk, Waverly and all points west. Current releases include:

ABBOTT AND COSTELLO MEET THE KILLER: A hilarious, though often contrived, plot which features the antics of the pulpy Lou Costello and three other studs, with an occasional bow to Boris Karloff, and indirect lighting.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME: A splendid bit of fluff that takes place in the winter time, but with this ridiculous title impressed upon it because the studio has exclusive rights to the title song and it's in Judy Garland's range.

BIRTH OF A NATION: This should be good for an Academy Award for John Whiteside, who appears in the last reel as a gnarled tree with rotten apples dangling from it.

THAT MIDNIGHT KISS: Mario Lanza is tremendous in this opus with arias from famed operas—including "Celeste Aida." Jules Munshin adds a needed bit of comedy with Thomas Gomez, but the beloved Ethel Barrymore seems rather bored with the whole thing.

BLACK MAGIC: Oh, this is a pip! Besides insinuating that Marie Autofeuille was really as virtuous and pure as the driven snow that has been driven too far, it brings to the screen the pliable features of Orson Welles, who shows all the emotion of a dried prune in a fruit salad. The story is an adaptation of a Dumas story—with additional dialogue by Sam Friedberg.

So, with this statement of forthcoming torments in celluloid, the Hollywood Correspondent bids a fond farewell to you and you—and especially YOU.

Ballet, Opera, Can-Can Skits Prepare For Loyola Night

Plans for Loyola Night, November 11, include seven skits tentatively undertaken. Added entertainment after the show will be a dance, featuring Bill Maisel's orchestra. The evening's program will last until one o'clock.

Producing a sketch entitled French Can-Can is Gerald Uhlhorn, who holds that it is a "serious" interpretation, by boys, of the original French masterpiece. The chorus "girls" are William Volenick, Robert Weiss, James Liszewski, Richard Wojtek and the producer.

George Strohecker and Thomas Garrity are directing Ballet Dr Ruse, a satirical ballet presentation of a love story. Comprising the ballet group are Philip Schwaab, Bernard Wertz, Edward Enla, Martin O'Connor, Allen Mechan, Howard France and the directors.

Love Triangle Portrayed

Mechan, Pula and O'Connor perform solos in the skit, representing the age-old love triangle.

An alumni act, unnamed as yet, is being written by Francis X. Gallagher. Members of the cast are Donald Fay, Cyril Keller, James Bowen and Robert Custer.

Hill-Hilly Skit Listed

Lacy L. Ranch Boys, written and directed by George Herman, presents a satire of the hill-hilly television shows. Instrumentalists of the backwoods band are Henry Oldewurtel, Joseph Sills, Larry Davis, William Volenick, George Strohecker, David Magnire and James Pernar.

Tickets for Loyola Night go on sale today in the Campus Shop. Student prices have been set at $1.50 and those for outsiders at $2.00 per couple. Attendance will be limited owing to the size of the gym.

Broadway Narrative, originally written by Robert Benchley, will be given with adaptations by George Herman who reports, "It is an explanation of music which will enable the wide-awake listener to tell Bach from Beethoven from Bonge-wongle from Be-hop."

Bill Mullikin has charge of The Stupid Prince which is a short farce operetta based on similar productions in New York and Massachusetts. Francis Meagher, Jerry Klundt, Howard France, George Brown, William Eggleston, George Herman and a chorus of twelve will do the mimicking of the operas.

Pilgrimage To Holy Land Included In NFCCS Plans

Senior Delegate Edward Pula recently attended the National Federation of Catholic College Students regional meeting held at Georgetown Visitation, Washington. Numerous Baltimore and Washington colleges participated in the confab.

Highlight of the day's program was an address by Richard Murphy, national chairman of NFCCS' Overseas Service Program. Murphy disclosed that Catholic students from the United States had raised $355,000 and contributed more than 75,000 books to the students of war-torn countries.

Plan Holy Land Tour

Plans to sponsor a tour of the Holy Land during the Holy Year of 1950 were also outlined. The pilgrimage will travel over Europe, visiting such countries as Switzerland, Holland, Italy, France and then finally the Holy Land.

All students are invited to participate in the tour which will leave next summer from New York. The cost will be approximately $500 and will offer the opportunity to attend the Pax Romana World Congress in Amsterdam.

Commissions Rechartered

At the meeting it was decided that NFCCS will function in the future on a more spiritualized basis rather than materialistic. It was pointed out that material means are not as necessary as spiritual.

Most of the business transacted centered around the rechartering of the different commissions and an explanation of their functions. The commissions rechartered were the Inter-racial, the Liturgy, the Forensic, the Radio, the I.R.C. and the Mariology.

May Meet At Loyola

Mount St. Agnes, Notre Dame, Mt. St. Mary's, St. Joseph's of Emmitsburg, Georgetown, Catholic University and Dunbarlon also took part in the conference.

The next meeting of NFCCS will be held on November 13, possibly at Loyola.

Loyolan Weds French Beauty

A romance that covered two continents is the basis of the marriage of senior student Paul Bezlat and his wife, Janine. For Janine, who has only recently returned to America from a three-month visit to her parental home, in Bayeuz, Normandy, is a 5' 2½" maid-miselle; and Paul is as typically American as the hot dog.

The first meeting between Paul and Janine came ten years ago, when Paul, who was then only fifteen, was visiting some relatives in Paris. Janine was there with her fraternal twin, and although correspondence between Janine and Paul was at a standstill for the next few years, Paul renewed her acquaintance when he marched through Normandy with the American Army in this war.

Paul brought Janine to America twice. The first was a visit with her twin sister in 1947, and the second time was when Paul and Janine settled down in Baltimore.

Janine shows an uncommon affection for American automobiles, immaculate white kitchens, Red Skeleton and Milton Berle. She likes movies of all kinds, downtown department stores and comedies, but she doesn't quite approve of the constant rushing around of the Americans.

As far as the age-old controversy, highlighted during the war, as to which continent produces the most beautiful women, Paul replies discreetly, "American and French women are equals"—and that's appropriately diplomatic for a man who carried on a two-country love affair. C'est la guerre.

Mr. Quinn is a graduate of Loyola's class of '16.

Now residing in Oklahoma City, where he is editor of The Southwest Courier, Mr. Quinn is widely known as one of the most outstanding Catholic journalists in America.

Democracy's Triumph

The Federal trial of Communists in New York is over. The defendants, without exception, have been justly tried and convicted. But the trial has a much deeper significance than the successful prosecution of the accused. It is a triumph for democracy—real democracy.

Offenders against our nation's Constitution have been convicted under already existing and constitutional laws. There was no need to enact dubiously valid legislation to meet the need for increased vigilance. Judge Medlar maintained complete justice in the closing moments when he instructed the jury in the most careful manner. Indeed his instruction might be applied to all situations where the need for calm and constitutional procedure is required.

The trial should serve as a lesson for all. In most cases our present laws are sufficient. Liberty cannot be destroyed by license.

Dear 'Goucher Weekly'

It has been noted that Loyola was not listed among the local institutions of learning in your column Advantages of Baltimore. Although the freshmen are urged to look up other places of interest in order to round out their weekend, Loyola goes unnoticed. The Greyhound takes this opportunity of pointing out this "advantage of Baltimore." Incidentally, freshmen, some of your upperclassmen have already found their way to Evergreen.

It might be worthwhile to tune in and listen to a few of these inspiring programs.

Hats Off - To Us

No one has ever seen a greyhound do it. In fact Scholastic Philosophy denies the intrinsic possibility of the physical act. The GREYHOUND, nevertheless, intends to take time out and implant a hearty pat on its overworked back.

The paper recently received its "All-American" rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for the second semester of last year. Out of a possible 1055 points, the paper was awarded 1025. The criticism lauded many features of the paper's format and material. The GREYHOUND appreciates this fine evaluation of its efforts.

A note of humility would help to mitigate this rather biased eulogy, and so THE GREYHOUND wishes to note that it shall do its utmost to continue the work of last year and to present a creditable College paper.

Don't hold it against us, but the staff did feel like tooting its proverbial horn over the concluding words of the criticism: "THE GREYHOUND IS an outstanding school paper, with little to criticize."

From the Library

Do movies like 'Top o' the Morning' and 'Sailors and Sailors' make you homesick for the old sod you never saw? Given a bit of time and money, isn't it tramping across Ireland you'd rather be, as quarterly exams loom near? Sure, you can jaunt from Londonderry to Cork any day in the library, if you've the imagination at all.

Padraic Colum's The Road Round Ireland, Bob Gliblidge's Lorely Is the Lee or Wallace Nutting's Ireland Beautiful will whisk you off to Galway Bay and the Wicklow Hills before you can say 'Biarney Castle.' They're delightfully illustrated; Nutting's 300 photographs cover every county.

Put Gallagher in Paddy the Cap and Maurice O'Sullivan in Twenty Years A Growing will leave you unforgettable tales of their hard and happy Irish boyhood. Or, if you'd be traveling back to the time when Father Prout wrote 'Bells of Shandon,' before the potato famine of '46 drove the Irish to conquer America, you've loads of quaint engravings in Wright's Ireland Illustrated (1836).

One of Baltimore's best in this business of making biscuits is a young lady by the name of Betty Wells. On Victor Records she goes by the name of Laura Leslie when she chirps with the Sammy Kaye outfit. For two years Kaye has not allowed Betty to sing anything but novelty tunes along with the quartet, the chorus and the voice of Don Cornell. Kaye has always said that Betty couldn't do justice to ballads. Consequently, she never cut any until just recently. The ballad type solo she made with Sammy Kaye is called A Friend Of Mine. She really sells it.

That just about takes care of festivities until the next time.

THE GREYHOUND SPORTS

Loyola Wins Soccer Opener, 5-0

Running With The Hounds

by Bob Bourbon

The month of November! To car owners it might mean a couple of bucks for anti-freeze, to shoppers it represents only so many days until Christmas, but to sports-minded Loyola students it means but one thing: Basketball! For almost three weeks now the varsity has been working out in preparation for its opener on the 23rd of November. Strangely enough, however, this contest has engendered no degree of temerity in the hearts of any of the members of the team; it doesn't cause Lefty Reitz one moment of lost sleep. Because this is one night that Loyola can't lose.

The opponent?—You guessed it; it's the Alumni.

One evening out of every three hundred and sixty-five, stars of Greyhound cage teams of yesteryear get bark into the somewhat-moth-eaten Green and Grey uniforms they wore as students and attempt to teach the kids a lesson. So far, they haven't, but that doesn't detract from the color of the affair. The game never fails to draw a large crowd, and the contests are not infrequently marked by good natured horseplay.

Alumni Has Roster Of Stars

This year the Alumni really mean business. They've been working out at the Towson Armory, at our own gym, in alleys, and in Sid Roche's cellar. In short, they've been working out everywhere. They have a lot of younger talent, and they'll be tough to handle. Reading their roster is like looking over the candidates for an all-time all-star team: Al Barthelme, Tom Gisriel, Frank Scrivener, Sid Roche, Paul Feeley, Don Galloway, Gene O'Conor, and lastly, and as always, leisurely, the great Jim Lacy. In addition to those mentioned, there are the redoubtable Bock brothers, Vic and Franny, Burney Goldberg, Jimmy Lazzatti, and others whose names might not strike a familiar note to the memories of present members of Loyola's cage following. But ask the old-timers; they know.

Difference In Teams

The big difference between the two squads has been in the past and probably will be this year old age and its incident infirmities. As one alumnus put it: "Along about the third or fourth quarter of last year's game Father Time reached out from under the bench and tied a pair of lead weights to my feet." Seriously, though, the varsity goes into the game with several advantages on its side. They'll be in condition and they've been practicing together every day. On the other hand the "Old Grails" will try to make up in experience and general savvy what they might lack in teamplay finesse. It should be interesting and it could be close.

Alumni-Student Get-together

The night of November 23rd could be worked into a profitable affair. Every year there are Alumni reunions, and numerous student rallies, but never do both groups get together "under one roof" so to speak. There should be a time when grads and undergrads can meet each other on an equal plane and discuss the old, the new, or anything else they might want to discuss. Our proposal is this: that a social be arranged in connection with the Alumni game, at which the older Loyola men can meet the younger Loyola men. This meeting would help to cement relations between students and alumni, and in addition could serve as an opening protestation of loyalty by all concerned towards the team which will represent Loyola on home and foreign hardwoods for the season 1949-50. Anyhow, it's something to think about.

Student Support

Last Tuesday afternoon's loss to Towson State Teachers' in soccer was a bitter pill to swallow, because it isn't every afternoon that Towson beats Loyola in soccer, or in anything else, for that matter. One mighty important factor in the success of any team, and something that often time goes without observance, is the support of the student body. And Towson's players had it that afternoon. The sidelines were lined with fans, both male and female, who lent their voices to the urging of their squad on to victory.

We don't have any of the former here at Loyola, but maybe a few more of the latter at our athletic contests might mean a lot in the performance of the Greyhound teams. Moral support, you know.

NO, IT'S NOT A HIGH-HURDLES RACE; it's merely the Greyhounds' Jim Bullington mixing it up with an unidentified American University player in a soccer game which Loyola won, 5 to 0, here at Evergreen last Saturday afternoon.

Freshmen Cop Rugby Test; 11-5 Game Played In Rain

by Ed Ward

With a steady drizzle persisting throughout play, a rout was registered by the Frosh over the Sophs, 11 to 5, in a rugby game played on the Evergreen turf last Friday afternoon. This affair supplied a new type of "recreation" on the campus, and by their conquest the Freshmen won the right to put an end to their hazing for the year.

Despite the fact that a fast varsity and freshman basketball scrimmage game was being held in the gym, and that an intramural football game was taking place at the same time, the rugby tilt was the center of attraction throughout its hour of play.

Combines Several Sports

The combination of football, soccer, wrestling and basketball appealed to all bystanders, as just about everything happened. The officials, who were Frank Linardi, Johnny Mercaldo and Bob Roesner, merely set the ball in the center of the field, equidistant from both sides. Both teams, who were lined up at the goal lines, were then allowed to run for the ball, using any means of scoring as long as the ball was run across.

After the usual scramble in the middle of the field the sophs' Jack Spellacy broke the scoring ice as he scored, minus half a T-shirt, after the completion of a triple pass. Lou Reinhart, who scored several times during the fracas, struck pay dirt first for the frosh, after a five minute pileup in which elbows and legs were seen flying.

Rain, Action Continue

As the rain continued so did the action. Featured in the next fifteen minutes of competition was a goal-saving tackle by Al Meehan, and two goals by freshman John Serlo, both on passes from Frank Potterfield. These were followed up by a brace of tallies by the sophs' Ed Lottes, with Dick Wotjek and John Hennegan acting as interference.

While time-keeper Franny Meagher was applying artificial respiration to a victim on the sidelines a little freshman in dungarees and

by Robert McKelvy

Loyola's soccer Greyhounds successfully opened defense of their Mason-Dixon Conference title by defeating American University's team, 5 to 0, in a league clash at Evergreen last Saturday. It was American University's second straight loss.

Although this season marks the first for the Eagle booters, they were able to temporarily halt the experienced Loyola offense, which was limited to two goals the first half and three in the latter period.

Luzzi Tallies Twice

The two elevens remained on equal footing until late in the first period when Armando Luzzi scored his first tally of the day. Again, in the second period Loyola penetrated the Eagles' defense, allowing Center Forward Luzzi to post his second and last goal of the afternoon.

Following the intermission American University found itself constantly besieged by the Greyhound attack which showed better teamwork and passing than in the previous quarters.

Fonte, Lind Score

Lou Fonte opened the second half scoring after the period was barely two minutes old. Tommy Lind duplicated his teammate's effort and scored once more on a long free kick later in the third quarter.

American University then tightened its defenses and held the Hounds scoreless in the last period, during which time Coach Bish Baker substituted liberally.

Pitchmen Lose To Towson, 1-0

Loyola College, 1948 Mason-Dixon Soccer Champion, was thwarted in its quest of a second straight crown as Towson State Teachers defeated the Hounds, 1 to 0. The game played at Towson on Tuesday was a low-scoring but bitter, hard-fought contest.

During the first quarter, the Greyhounds continually knocked at the door of the Teachers' goal but either the goal-tending of angle George Kimmel or the brilliant defensive play of Bill Ritter stopped the Loyolans time and again.

Penalty Shot Wins Tally

The second quarter saw few offensive forays as both teams controlled the ball near mid-field. This pattern was followed through the opening minutes of the third period, but midway in the stanza Towson was awarded a penalty kick, and the Teachers sent substitute Jim Hottes into the contest.

Hottes drilled a low, hard boot past Goalie John Gants for what proved to be the winning tally. After this goal Loyola fought gamely to tie the score.

Blitz's Play Is Outstanding

Tom Lind, the outstanding player of the game, was moved from his familiar position of Left Halfback to the attack.

The fates were against them, however, and after a roughly played fourth quarter, the final whistle blew, finding the Green and Grey on the short end of the count.

Conference Cutouts

Contrary to a previous report, Bill Kern of Western Maryland will try for his fourth straight undefeated campaign in intercollegiate wrestling circles this winter . . . In a press conference held recently, the Towson State Teachers Athletic Department announced that their booters will engage the University of Havana in a soccer match on November 1. This will be the first international match of a series to be endorsed by the State Department . . . Heresay from Chestertown has it that high-scoring Nick Scallion will once again lead the M-D Basketball Conference in scoring.

IT'S RUGBY TIME AT LOYOLA as ball-toting duck Idlet of the Sophomore team is about to receive physical retribution at the hands of Fresh players Pete Brubacher and Bernie Bateman. The game which was played last Friday on the Athletic field resulted in an 11 to 5 victory for the "Pups".

Loyola Booters To Face Terps, Sho'men, Terrors

by Gene Conroy

With Tuesday's game against Towson State Teachers now a thing of the past, the Greyhound soccer team has set its sights on repeat performances of last year's victories over the squads of Washington College, Western Maryland College and the University of Maryland.

This year's contests with the previously mentioned schools should provide just as many thrills as did last season's, for these institutions of learning boast teams composed of a goodly number of returning lettermen.

Play Sho'men Today

The Green and Grey opens the trio of skirmishes today, facing the Sho'men of Washington College. Not too much is known about the ability of this year's Sho'men, but if one can go by their standards of past seasons, they should produce a scrappy, hard-fighting unit.

Revenge will add gusto to this contest. It was by virtue of Loyola's 2 to 1 win of last year that a twelve-game Washington win streak came to an end. And you can be somewhat assured of the fact that on October 21, here at Evergreen, the boys from Chestertown will be out to avenge that setback.

Green Terrors Next

One week later the Green Terrors of Western Maryland will invade Loyola with an idea of pinning a defeat on the Hounds' record. The Westminster booters might well do it, for Terror coach Phil Uhrig's squad will be fortified with such notable returnees as Bill Roahls, Jim Hackman, Joe Keenan, Homer Earl, who was last year's captain, and George Winfrey, as well as a number of last year's Junior Varsity members.

The part of the invader will then be taken over by the Greyhounds as they visit College Park to encounter the University of Maryland. This meeting will take place on Tuesday, November 1.

Belt Is All-American

The Terps will be led by Inside Right Jim Belt, a member of last year's All-America squad, and Outside Left Ed Reider. It has been these two players who have been carrying the attack to the opponents' goal in early season games.

The Greyhounds, however, will not sit back and take all this on the chin, for they have a potent scoring punch that is capable of exploding at any time and which, when the chips are down, can turn defeat into victory.

BB Tickets Delayed

Due to an unforeseen delay in printing, the '49-'50 season tickets for the basketball games have not been obtainable in the Athletic Office. Announcement will be made, however, when the ducats arrive from the printers and are available to the students.

Students are again reminded that a photo, along with their registration card, must be presented when acquiring the book of tickets. Tickets will be for the games to be played in the College's gym.

Hard-Working Managers Receive Little Praise

As the teams of Loyola win, lose, or draw on athletic fields, praise is heaped upon the players. Forgotten many times in this praise is a group of men who do a great deal for the success of the teams. These men are the team managers, and their lot is not an easy one.

A team may have the best material available, but it isn't content and happy unless it is well provided for. That is where the manager comes in. He must be on hand every day to polish equipment, keep the team in practice gear, furnish towels for showers, or give some ailing player a rub-down. They're the jobs that no one wants, but someone has to do them.

Men Behind Scenes

Who are these men behind the scenes of Loyola's fall and winter sports?

The man of action guiding the soccer team's after-practice activity is a chap who is termed by many as one of the best in the business. He is quiet and likable Frank Weitz. Frank is a former St. Joe boy and ex-marine.

At present Frank is supplementing his earnings by driving a taxicab. His most ardent rooter is his charming wife.

McElroy Has Aldes

Coach Bill McElroy is capably aided in his cross-country activities by Louis Seilmayer and Walter Welzant. These two men are hard workers. Not only are they the hill-and-dale managers, but in addition Wall helps out in a managerial capacity for the "grunt and groaners." In the spring both are busy with the track team.

The two men that are seen polishing basketballs daily are Jerry Pondo and John Fitzpatrick. These two have their hands full; cage practice begins in the early part of October, and runs until the latter part of March. Pondo is a former Navy man and a Calvert Hall graduate. John Fitzpatrick has the honor of being the son of the first Greyhound baseball manager. His father, of the class of '07, holds this distinguished honor.

Lefty's 'Left-Hand Man' Allen Becoming Fixture At Loyola

A familiar blue baseball cap, accompanied by a friendly word to everyone—that is a brief introduction to Lefty Reitz's "left-hand man," Charles Allen Gross. To the students of Loyola he is known as Allen, a very familiar and popular name about Evergreen.

Allen arrived at Loyola in March of 1947, having recently completed a four-year spell in the U. S. Army. He was engaged in working along the Pacific Coast on an oil tanker and also served in the Coast Artillery, visiting Korea and Okinawa.

By some, Allen is recognized as a utility man, but to those who know him well, he is a real necessity. His daily chores begin at eight every morning, a day of laundering and delivering towels, keeping the athletic fields in top condition, and fulfilling the desires of Loyola students.

On the other hand, he plays the role of an unusual hero. Many times as late as nine o'clock at night, he is seen by the evening school students. All athletic events demand his presence, for which he answers untiringly.

In his off-hours, Allen remains consistent by being sports-minded.

Allen Gross

Baseball and football are his two favorites, together with a preference for ping-pong. In this side love Allen boasts of many victories over student paddlers.

His team this year was Brooklyn and his nominee for the league's best pitcher, Dan Newcomb.

Allen's retort, when asked of his plans for the future, was, "I don't know; you'll have to ask Lefty!"

Classes Of '42, '50 Deadlocked Atop Bowling Loop Standings

by Al Mehan

After the final timber had been counted and the scores tabulated at the Plaza Bowling Alleys on Tuesday, October 11, it was found that once again there was a tie for first place in the Alumni Bowling League.

This time it was between the Classes of '42 and '50. The previous Tuesday had found the team of '44-'45 in undisputed possession of first place, but as has happened three times already, a tie resulted.

The '44-'45 rollers had a disastrous evening. They dropped three games and fell from first to third place. On the other hand the Class of '42, which began the season in rather slow fashion, but which is now setting the league afire, topped its three games and moved up from a second-place draw.

In the most exciting match of the evening the '42 outfit, playing its second game with the '50 club, needed 12 pins to win as its anchor man Tim Thaler came up. Very decisively Tim rolled a spare, chopped four pins on it, and pulled his

Greyhounds To Face Trio

by John Mercalito

During the period beginning with Saturday, October 22, and ending on Tuesday, November 1, Loyola's cross-country team will tangle with the "big three" of its schedule, Georgetown University, Washington College and Catholic University.

The harriers will definitely be gunning for a victory over the strong Georgetown runners, when they meet in Washington tomorrow. The Hoyas will be boasting their whole returning squad of last year, led by a lad named Bill Smith, who is reported to be one of the finest half-milers in the country at the present time.

Revenge In Order

Joe Rams, Harry Saunders and George Gagnon round out the veteran capitol city entry. Georgetown eked out a 26 to 30 victory in '48 to give the Hounds the first of its two season losses, and a revenge victory is in order.

On Saturday, October 29, the Showmen will journey up from Washington College to be entertained by the hill and daleers here at Evergreen in the second of Loyola's home encounters.

Brandenburg Sprint Ace

The Greyhounds finished one place ahead of the third-place "men from Chestertown" last year in the Mason-Dixon meet. The visiting team will be a replica of last year's squad. They are led by Larry Brandenburg, John Bowie and Joe Drylett. Word has it that this fellow Brandenburg set two new records last spring in the one-quarter and one-half mile races.

Again, on Tuesday, November 1, the thioclands will travel to D. C. for an engagement with Catholic University. A recollection of last year's win, in which Loyola took the first six places, brings high hopes by Coach Bill McElroy for a repeat win. The harriers should come out ahead of this cardinal team, which is angling to vindicate itself by upsetting the favored Greyhounds.

Rotor Heads, Clowns Tie For Football Leadership

With a little over two weeks of activity behind them, the racket-wielders and football specialists are showing the way in the fall intramural league.

Touch Football

With the student commissioner Tom Kane tossing out the first pig-skin, the touch football leagues have gotten off to a fast start. Each afternoon after four o'clock one can see a wide variety of Titties and Grossmans plying their wares on the athletic field.

The Globetrotters, last year's champions, wasted little time in giving notice that 4.0 football will be needed to wrest the crown from their hands.

Putting together a foolproof defense with a pair of touchdown passes from Don Semesky to John Corbett the 'trotters took their opener against the Mustangs, 14 to 0. Ed Twele and Harry Beck alternated in kicking the extra points.

Form went out the window in the Diz Kids-Rotor Heads tussle. The Kids, sporting a five-man line weighing well over the half-ton mark and an able passing attack, were a couple of touchdown favorites over this unheralded freshman team.

A tight defensive duel, featuring good punting, dominated the first ten minutes of play. With only one yard to go for a first down the Diz Kids gambled on fourth, deep in their own territory. On an end run Kearney was stopped at the line of scrimmage for no gain. Then the Rotor Heads took over. They were stymied on three touchdown tries, but on fourth down Maciek split the uprights to provide his teammates with the margin of victory. This conquest moved the 'Heads up to the heel of League 1.

Doc Connor's Clowns are leading the pack in League 2, with a like number of wins.

Tennis

Six students have already advanced to the quarter-finals of the Fall Intramural Singles Tournament. The remaining matches of the qualifying round were to have been played this past week.

Pairings in this round found Bob Freeze facing the winner of the Hennegan-Pula sets, Bob Miller against Frank Klemm, Doc Connor versus Bud McCormick, and Talbot Cockey playing the winner of the Andrew Hofer-Tom Murphy match.

Action has been brisk in the tourney; the original field of thirty-two hopefuls has been cut down considerably. The remaining sets figure to be close and anyone of the quarter-finalists could cop the honors.

Horseshoes

Only one match has been played so far in the horseshoe tournament. Conflicts in schedules have delayed student activity in this branch of intra-mural competition.

Cadigan Named To NSA Post

For the first time in the history of the National Student Association, Loyola has a regional officer. Richard Cadigan was elected to the office of president of the Mason-Dixon region at a regional election at Hood College October 3.

"I hope that the NSA Mason-Dixon region will include Virginia in the future," said Cadigan. "At present it includes only Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia."

Plan Regional Congress

Cadigan has tentatively scheduled the next NSA regional congress at the University of Maryland on November 3 and 4. Vice-President Alben J. Barkley has been invited to speak, together with numerous congressmen.

The next regular meeting of the NSA will take place on Sunday, October 30, at the University of Baltimore at 2:00 p.m. An innovation will be the invitation of non-member colleges and universities to send delegates in order that they may become affiliated with the NSA.

Back Evaluation Measure

The principal measure of the NSA organization on the Loyola campus is the promotion of the Faculty-Student Cooperation Bill. Under this bill, students would evaluate their teachers on an impartial basis in order to obtain more proficient lecturing methods.

Other delegates of the NSA on the Loyola campus, besides Cadigan include Junior Delegate Lawrence Rodowsky and Daniel Downey.

Rifle Club Picks Volenick Head

William Volenick was elected president of the Rifle Club for the coming year at the club's first meeting October 3.

Others who were elected officers include Vice-President Hans Whelton, Secretary Joseph Bartolomeo and Treasurer Neale Smith. Council members George Strohecker, Edward Pula and Richard Cadigan presided over the elections.

Mr. Henry J. Hergenroeder, moderator, announced that Loyola will again participate in a series of small matches with other college teams too distant for convenient travel.

Competition in these matches is entirely by mail. Both squads shoot on their own ranges and then mail the results to each other, from which the winner is computed. Loyola has challenged the University of Arizona and the United States Merchant Marine Academy.

The team has been divided into sections, which will practice separately once a week. The range of the old Calvert Hall College at Walbrook Oval will again be reserved for practices.

Trade In Your Grey Flannels; Coonskins Are In Vogue Again

(LIFE magazine recently printed an article indicating that college styles were returning to the flapper fashions of the "Roaring '20's." THE GREYHOUND has conducted a poll to determine student reaction to this trend.)

Louie, the raccoon at the Baltimore City Zoo, is in for a rough winter.

No, Louie isn't headed for the glue factory; it's just that some college men have been eyeing his luxuriant fur coat with more than a passing interest lately.

It seems that the era of the flapper is returning and the b'hoys will be wearing racoon coats again as they drive their 1949 Stutz Bearcats to and from campus.

"I don't care what the styles are," said Louie. "They're going to have a mighty mad racoon if they try to make me into a coat for some schmoo."

"I'm definitely against them," asserted A. A. President Franny Meagher. "My figure is ruined by a short skirt."

(Editor's Note—We agree.)

Other comments, sensible and otherwise, were varied:

"They're going to be a flap—mean flop."—Neale Smith.

"Uh, well."—George Strohecker.

"A chicken in every pot and a coonskin on every back."—former President of the United States.

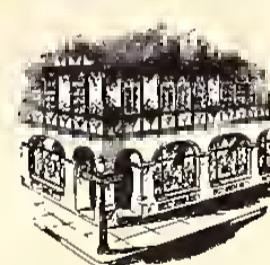

"I shall have a supply of coonskin flannels within the next two weeks."—Eddie Jacobs.

"This darn thing itches."—Milton Harris.

"I hope they're going to make blue ones with gold buttons."—Student of institution located at Annapolis.

"It is a form of capitalistic propaganda designed by the war-mongers to pull the masses into a complete surrender of their free will. I veto."—Andrel Gromyko.

"I hope it won't affect us."—member of Jesuit faculty.

Mr. Durney Lauds Spirit Of Evergreen Students

by George Strohecker

"Small classes and excellent equipment are an asset to thorough instruction," says Mr. Harry A. Durney, Jr., new instructor in physical chemistry at Loyola. Continuing his comment, Mr. Durney stated that he finds the attitudes of both the faculty and the students to be congenial and co-operative.

A native Baltimorean, he has resided at 2319 Rosedale street all of his twenty-four years. He received his preparatory instruction at Baltimore City College and was graduated in 1942. In the same year he entered the Johns Hopkins University, matriculating in chemical engineering.

Serves In Navy

Mr. Durney interrupted his college education by serving in the United States Navy for two years.

He returned to Hopkins in 1946 and received his Bachelor of Engineering degree a year later. He gained his practical experience in the summer as a laboratory research chemist at the Catalyst Research Corporation of Baltimore.

Following his undergraduate work, he taught physical chemistry at Hopkins, at the same time studying for his master's degree, which he was awarded in 1948.

Studying For Ph.D.

Now studying for his doctorate in engineering, he began his first year of teaching at Loyola in September of this year.

Mr. Durney has announced his engagement to Miss Jean Carol Rettberg. They plan to be married in June, 1950.
